OMH 1

1

The Office of Minority Health (OMH) was established in 1985 by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS). It advises the Secretary and the Office of Public Health and Science on public health program activities affecting Blacks/African Americans, American Indians/Alaska Natives, Asian Americans, Native Hawaiians and other Pacific Islanders, and Hispanics/Latinos. The goal of OMH is to improve and protect the health of racial and ethnic minority populations through the development of health policies and programs that will address health disparities.

OMH advises the Department on health policy issues affecting health status and access to care among minority populations. It coordinates programs to implement the HHS minority initiatives, including the White House Initiative on Historically Black Colleges and Universities, Educational Excellence for Hispanic Americans and the HHS Hispanic Agenda for Action, the White House Initiative on Tribal Colleges and Universities, HHS's efforts to increase participation of Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders in Federal programs and the Asian American and Pacific Islander Action Agenda, and the HHS/Congressional Black Caucus' Initiative to Address HIV/AIDS Among Racial and Ethnic Minority Populations.

OMH works with HHS operating divisions and other Federal departments to improve collection and analysis of data on the health of racial and ethnic minority populations. It monitors efforts to achieve Healthy People 2000 goals and consults on establishing Healthy People 2010 goals for minority health.

OMH also organizes demonstration projects through joint agreements with other operating divisions of the Department, grants for health projects at minority community organizations and coalitions, and cooperative agreements with major national minority organizations.

OMH maintains minority health consultants in each of the 10 HHS Regional Offices, and helps build a network of consumers and professionals working on minority health issues. OMH works with established State offices of minority health, and provides technical assistance, as requested, to minority community groups who are working to establish similar entities within their states. It operates the OMH Resource Center, which was established to improve analysis of issues and exchange of minority health information among professionals and consumers.

The Office of Minority Health Resource Center (OMH-RC) was established by the Office ofMinority Health in 1987 to facilitate the exchange of minority health information and assist in the analysis of minority health issues.

As a result of additional funding, the Resource Center will expand its activities related to HIV/AIDS beginning in late 1999. New staff has been added to take on additional projects including developing Web pages specific to HIV/AIDS with a focus on funding information; expanding the database and library; building the capability of the Resource Persons Network with experts in the field of HIV/AIDS who will provide technical assistance to the community; publishing four additional issues of Closing the Gap on HIV/AIDS-related topics; and increasing treatment and prevention messages related to HIV/AIDS. The Resource Center is adding staff dedicated to answering the public's questions about HIV/AIDS.

OMH-RC information resources on minority health include databases (funding, media, research, data, and listings of volunteer resource persons) as well as scientific reports, journals, and documents. OMH-RC services are free, and can be obtained by calling toll free 1-800-444-6472. Information specialists are available from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Eastern Time, Monday through Friday, to assist callers in English and Spanish.
